Blackjack night without the bookkeeping: the app deals, keeps the score and settles every argument

It deals

A shuffled shoe on every phone. The dealer seat rotates by itself, and bots fill empty seats.

It keeps score

Every sip, credit and handout is counted live, per player, and milestones are called out as they happen.

It settles arguments

Rules fire automatically. Votes and side bets run on everyone's phone, with a timer.

SO WHAT

Everyone plays; nobody has to be the referee, the banker or the one who remembers what an Ace of Spades does.

Four steps a round, and the app runs all of them

1

Call it

Before the deal, bet whether the dealer busts. Right earns a credit and a handout; wrong costs a sip.

2

Play two hands

Hit, stand, double or split. Unsuited 10s must be split: playing it safe is not the point.

3

Rules fire live

Aces, suited hands, a third 6 or 7 on the table: sips move the moment the card lands.

4

Settle up

Wins offset losses, so you only drink your net loss. Then the dealer seat moves on.

SO WHAT

A round takes about 3.2 minutes at a real table, quick enough that nobody waits long for their turn.

The drinking rules reward bold play: the table drinks when you win big

Net losses only

Wins offset losses. You only drink for the hands you lose more than you win.

Your Blackjack, their sips

Blackjacks, doubled and split wins and suited hands hand sips to everyone else.

Aces have powers

♣ a credit · ♠ the next player drinks · ♥ treat yourself · ♦ the dealer drinks.

Split 10s with honor

Unsuited 10s must be split. The cautious 20 is off the menu.

Devil's Hand · Lucky Sevens

A third 6 on the table makes someone drink; a third 7 hands out a credit.

Milestones

First to every 50 sips hands out 5. Back-to-back winners get called out.

Between hands, four side games keep the whole table in it, dealer included

Dealer bust vote

Bet the dealer busts. Right: a credit plus a handout. Wrong: a sip.

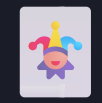

Dealer Lottery

Dealer lands a paired 18 or 20? Stake 0–5 on a split redeal: busts pay out, a clean redeal costs you.

Targeted Drinking

The table votes someone onto the spot: call bust or stand on a mini-hand until three in a row.

Wild Card

Tap the logo for a surprise: a sip for you, for someone random, or a Targeted round.

SO WHAT

Every side game is a switch in 📜 House rules: keep the ones your table loves, drop the rest, even mid-game.

Source: Black(Out)Jack rules, game logs and simulator

Every table sets its own game: 44 rules, three presets, and a drink rate for each seat

HOUSE RULES YOUR WAY

Starter
10 rules · the essentials

Standard
31 rules · the classic night

Full
44 rules · everything on

- ✓ Start on a preset, then add rules one at a time
- ✓ Switch any rule off, even mid-game
- ✓ Players suggest changes; the table can vote them in

FAIR FOR EVERY DRINK

- ✓ Drink Rate: each seat picks its factor, from wine at 0.6× or a cocktail at 0.4× up to a 1.5× booster
- ✓ Easy Mode: halve everyone's sips with one switch
- ✓ Big tables: sips halve by themselves at 4+ players
- ✓ Normal mode: the same game with chips, no drinking at all

One room code gets everyone in, around one table or across the country

Digital

Phones and laptops, no install: add it to your home screen for an app feel. Bots fill empty seats.

Referee

Play with a real deck; the app is the scorekeeper and rule book.

Terminal

Solo or local multiplayer from the command line, for the nerds.

SO WHAT

Share the room code or its QR code, and anyone can join from their own phone. Spectators can watch without a seat.

BALANCED BY THE SIMULATOR

TABLE	SIPS PER PLAYER PER ROUND	DEALER BUSTS	BLACKJACKS
2 players · 1 deck	3.3	28%	6.1%
3 players · 1 deck	4.4	28%	6.0%
4 players · 2 decks	5.6	28%	6.0%

SO WHAT

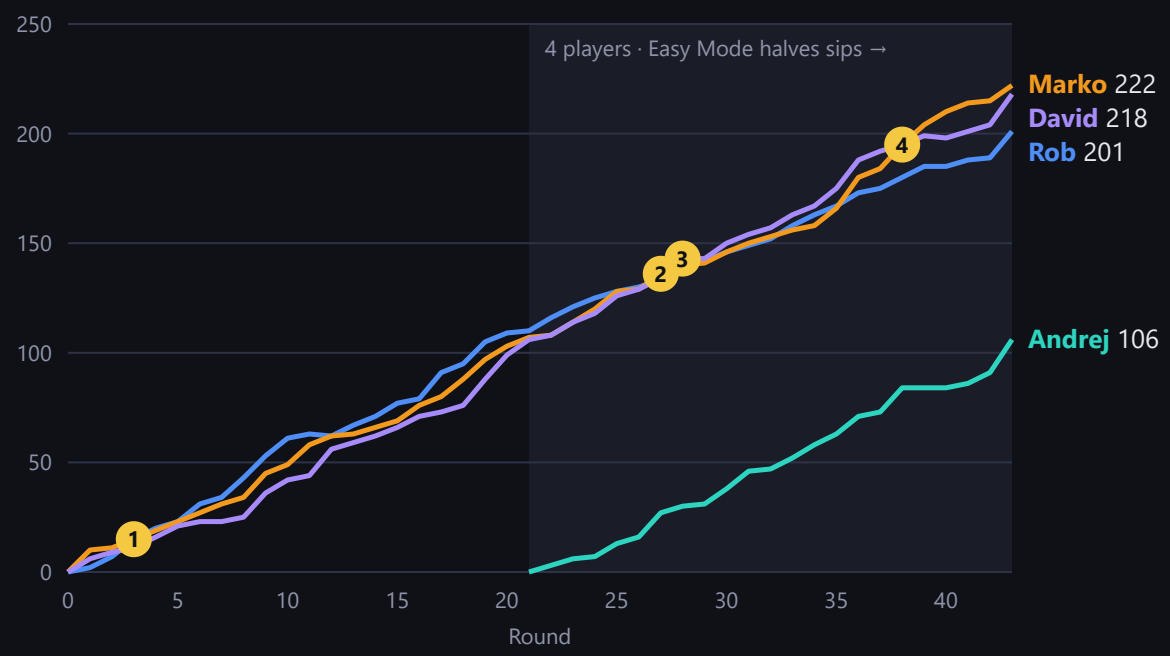

Every rule is tuned at real tables and checked over 100,000 simulated rounds per table size, so a night stays a steady, social pace instead of a race to the floor. The play-test nights are the developers' own group of friends, not a public user count.

Black(Out)Jack

Every night ends with a recap deck: who won, why, and who should never split again

A REAL NIGHT: THE RACE TO THE TOP

EVERY RECAP INCLUDES

- ✓ An executive summary and a race chart with every lead change
- ✓ Where the sips came from, round by round
- ✓ Who played by the book, and who ran the toughest house
- ✓ A page for every player, awards included

SO WHAT

One tap on "📊 Download Recap (PDF)" in the summary, and the group chat has something to argue about until the next game.

Built for good nights, not regrets

18+ only

An age gate on every device, and a link to the Terms & Disclaimer.

Drink less, still play

Drink Rate discounts and Easy Mode cut the sips without leaving the game.

Or don't drink at all

Normal mode plays the same blackjack with chips instead of sips.

Know your limits

Water counts. Taxis count. Never drink and drive.

SO WHAT

The game is about the cards and the company; the sips are just how you keep score.
